ANNUAL REPORT

YWCA IS ON A MISSION

from the president

I recently had the privilege of hearing one of YWCA Central Alabama's clients share how the agency helped save her. She was in an abusive relationship and was afraid for her life. She wasn't sure what to do or where to go, but she knew she had to escape. A friend gave her some advice that changed everything. "Call the YWCA," she said. "They will help you."

The YW has been answering the call in our community since 1903, and the work we do is important. It's both life-changing and lifesaving, and it wouldn't be possible without your generosity and compassion. Because of you, our children get the best start possible in our nationally-accredited child development center. Hundreds of individuals and families living paycheck to paycheck have a safe, affordable place to call home. Domestic violence victims find the strength and resources they need to build new lives free from abuse, and middle and high school students learn to advocate for schools and communities that are inclusive and fair to all.

Our YW is fortunate to have the best staff, Board, Junior Board, volunteers and faithful supporters imaginable, and I have loved watching you make the magic happen as we continue to serve the most vulnerable in our community. More than 12,000 individuals turned to us for help in 2017, and we are grateful to you for sharing your time, talents and resources to help them rebuild their lives. I can't think of a greater gift.

It has been a privilege to serve as Board president of this wonderful organization for the past three years, and I am thrilled to pass the torch to our new president, Maggie Brooke. Under her leadership, the YWCA will grow and thrive so that it can continue to be there for women, children and families in crisis.

Thank you for the very important role you play in making it happen.

Sincerely,

child development

The YWCA's Child Development Center* is nationally-accredited by the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC), an honor only 6 percent of centers in the country have earned.

KIDS Korner provides a safe, nurturing environment for children of homeless families to learn, play and grow. Calico Corner primarily serves children of working poor families.

The First Class Pre-K program prepares students for “big school” so they are ready to learn and are on track academically, socially and emotionally with their peers.

The After-School Enrichment Program (ASEP) provides academic support for homeless children in grades K-8. The summer program offers field trips, academic instruction, swimming, arts and more.

*Partnerships with JCCEO Head Start and Early Head Start

— Katie, on the impact the YWCA's Child Development Center had on her child.

domestic violence services

The YWCA offers a variety of services to help domestic violence victims and their children escape abusive homes and become self-sufficient.

The YW has emergency shelters for victims and their children that serve Jefferson, St. Clair and Blount counties. The agency also operates a 24-Hour Crisis Hotline (205.322.4878) to assist callers with safety planning and other resources.

YW Court Advocates help victims navigate the court system while the Family Law Center provides comprehensive civil legal services to victims of domestic violence, sexual assault, stalking and dating violence.

The Supervised Visitation and Exchange Center at the YWCA provides an emotionally and physically safe environment for children to visit with their noncustodial parents.

In 2017, with your help, the YWCA:

provided 12,929 nights of shelter for 235 adults and 185 children and answered 1,764 crisis calls

— Brittany, a domestic violence survivor housing

The YWCA provides safe, affordable housing units to individuals and families living paycheck to paycheck, including the elderly, disabled, homeless and other vulnerable populations.

The YW offers more than 150 affordable housing units, including permanent housing as well as transitional housing for women escaping abusive relationships.

Interfaith Hospitality House allows homeless families to stay together during their time of crisis. The shelter in Woodlawn serves mothers with at least one teenage son, married couples with children, and single fathers with children.

CREW (Creating Responsible, Educated Working teens) provides valuable summer work experience for teenagers and is housed in the YW's Family Resource Center, which serves the Woodlawn community.

"The apartment I live in is better than a home. I think there is no other program better than the YWCA's."

social justice

The YWCA's social justice programs are designed to equip students and adults with the skills they need to stand up for what is right and to help make schools and communities more fair and inclusive for all.

Youth programs, including Anytown Alabama,* Heritage Panel, and PEACE Birmingham, allow diverse groups to learn from each other and help participants become advocates for change.

The Building Communities, Bettering Lives AmeriCorps program is a service initiative that increases the impact and reach of the YW and other local nonprofits.

The YWCA advocates for fair lending practices for all to help clients trapped in a cycle of debt from payday and title loans with exorbitant interest rates.

*Partnership with The National Conference for Community and Justice
